

Google's new 'My Storytime' platform helps families stay in touch

 By Shereesa Moodley

28 Nov 2019

Google has launched a new platform called My Storytime, which aims to keep families in touch with pre-recorded audio via Google Assistant.

According to the company, the tool allows users to create and share audio recordings, such as bedtime stories, that others can playback using Google Nest.

“All your recordings are saved securely on the cloud. Only you and those you share them with will be able to access them,” Google explained on My Storytime's website.

Once a story is uploaded onto the platform, users can ask the Assistant to play them by saying “Hey Google, talk to My Storytime”.

Essentially, My Storytime gives families a platform to stay in touch when they can't in real-time.

Additionally, Google Assistant now features the ability to read out the news and buy movie tickets for users in the United States.

ABOUT SHEREESA MOODLEY

Shereesa is a passionate writer who often delves into the world of social media, online trends and all things photography. She is also a journalism graduate of Rhodes University and can be found frequenting YouTube and Instagram. She lurks on Twitter too, sometimes.

- The Friends cast will get back together for HBO Max reunion special - 24 Feb 2020
- 2020 emoji will include pinched fingers, bubble tea and more gender-inclusivity - 30 Jan 2020
- Disney is removing 'Fox' from the production company's future branding - 20 Jan 2020
- Google's new 'My Storytime' platform helps families stay in touch - 28 Nov 2019
- South Africa 'cancels' Old Mutual after body arrives at offices for proof of death - 20 Nov 2019

View my profile and articles...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>