

2013 One Show: Deadline looms

NEW YORK, US: Happy New Year! January means new beginnings, but it also means the One Show deadline is only a few weeks away - you have until 31 January 2013 to get those entries in.

Enter the One Show and have your best, most creative work seen by our elite panel of judges from around the world. View our full jury of top creatives.

We are also offering new entry categories to represent your work better. The One Show will now offer an E-publication ad category, and One Show Interactive features new User Experience Design and Data Visualization categories. One Show Design introduces several new categories, including Municipal Design, Data Visualisation and "Design Does."
