

Sunday's Media@safm show to focus on investigative journ in SA

This Sunday, 1 April 2012, the programme for Ashraf Garda's Media@SAfm show, 9am-11am on 104-107 FM nationwide, will include:

- Speaking to Prof Anton Harber about the state of investigative journalism [The Media Online broke the news on Friday, 30 March 2012 that Media24 Investigations almost succeeded in poaching the entire Sunday Times investigative team, plus it's the Taco Kuiper Award for Investigative Journalism on Friday afternoon managing ed]
- Interviewing the Taco Kuiper Award winners
- Anthony Duke explains his "Radio is losing its intelligence: part I and part II" contributor pieces which appeared here on Bizcommunity.com
- · Feature ad: the Cadbury PS ad
- Branded feature: there'll be a well-known presenter in the hot seat
- Under discussion: the PRISM Awards Garda will speak to Kerry Seymour of overall winner Splash PR and to Renay Tandy from best small agency Ngage.
- And it's the 10th birthday celebrations for the South African edition of Oprah's magazine, O. Garda will speak to editor Samantha Page.

Send advance comments or questions to ashraf@safm.co.za or media@safm.co.za, Twitter or Facebook.

Updated at 12.34pm on 30 March 2012. Updated at 1.57pm on 30 March 2012.

For more, visit: https://www.bizcommunity.com