6 Jun 2018

Showcasing the future stars of the Creative Economy

The upcoming annual AFDA Experimental Festival promises to be a jaw-dropping, eye-popping and mind-boggling experience across all the AFDA campuses. AFDA Film and Television third year students will be screening over 50 experimental films and documentaries.

Performance students will stage over 20 theatre plays and music performances and for the first time in AFDA's 24 year history, our genesis group of Business Innovation and Entrepreneurship students, now in their third year, will give presentations of their cutting edge, on the money, business models, ideas and strategies.

"The experimental festival is a unique opportunity for third year students to discover and express their artistic intent as well as experiment with film, theatre, music and television craft techniques. AFDA is also extremely proud to have our first group of third year B Com students present their innovative business models to an audience." says Garth Holmes, Co-Founder and Chairman of AFDA.
