"I have one thing in common with the emerging black nations of Africa: We both have voices, and we are discovering what we can do with them." Mama Miriam Makeba.

Today's generation of women are actively embracing and leading conversations across different platforms – addressing all sorts of issues pertaining to the advancement of women and solutions on how we can break out and transform our spaces and society.

The move towards telling real stories about the contribution women have made to building our nation, historically and in this generation is a seed that we must be intentional about planting, to forge a better path for the generations to come.

As Women's Month unfolds, it is a time of deep reflection and celebration for all of us involved in the Urban Brew Studios production of the groundbreaking television talk show, Women With Purpose.

"As One Gospel, we take great pride in our commitment to delivering content that deeply resonates with our viewers. With the highly anticipated launch of Season 3 of Women With Purpose, we are delighted to announce that this season will consist of 12 episodes. This decision comes as a response to positive feedback from our audience, affirming the show's ability to connect with viewers on a profound level. As a channel, we see women's issues and discussions not focused only on August for Women's Month, but beyond. This season also promises to offer exciting, enlightening, and authentic discussions" says Yandiswa Nkonde, channel head for One Gospel.

Hosted by the phenomenal television and radio broadcaster, Rorisang Thandekiso, the show has emerged as a powerful platform, amplifying the voices of women from diverse backgrounds and showcasing their resilience, strength, and determination. It is a privilege to be part of a team that believes in the transformative power of storytelling, recognising the immense value of sharing these narratives of triumph, inspiration, and faith.

This new season will delve into the core of these women's perspectives and journeys to unearth the challenges that they have faced and the life lessons they have learnt. By sharing their experiences, we hope that viewers will receive a roadmap
