

Maverick Publishing* appoints new editor

Maverick Publishing Corporation has named Mariska du Plessis as the magazine's new editor.

Du Plessis is to take over the editorial reigns from long-standing editor and co-publisher, Tanja Schmitz, as work commence's on the title's best-selling January-February issue.

The newly appointed editor first gained publishing and writing experience while working at a custom magazine publisher, before moving to a digital media agency, where she developed her social media acumen and honed her strategic content creation and curation capabilities.
