

GoodLuck returns with new single titled Bird of Paradise

After a brief hiatus from releasing electronic music, GoodLuck returns with its biggest hit single to date. Bird of Paradise is a powerful, evocative gender anthem that pushes the boundaries of the band and the entire electronic pop genre.

Bird of Paradise was also engineered by Grammy Award-winning mastering engineer John Greenham, who completed the single at his studio in LA. Greenham has worked with some of the world's greatest artists and is best known lately for his work with Billie Eilish.
