

New managing director for Air Products South Africa

Robert Richardson has been appointed by the Air Products South Africa board of directors as its new managing director. Richardson previously served as general manager of on-sites for eight years.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>