

Norton Rose Fulbright appoints new global, US chair

Norton Rose Fulbright has appointed its Houston partner, Shauna Clark, as global and US chair, taking over from Durban partner, Andrew Robinson, in the global position and San Antonio partner, George Scofield, in the US role.

In both roles, Clark will work on a range of strategic priorities, including the development of client relationships, diversity and inclusion, and community engagement. She will assume the roles on 1 January.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>