

Travelstart launches new business travel booking, reporting tool

Travelstart has launched its Travelstart for Business business travel booking and reporting tool for corporates. "The market is flooded with complicated corporate travel solutions which seem to be stuck in the past, so we have shaped our product according to what companies want from a business travel tool," says Pia Spratley, Travelstart's head of product.

Travelstart for Business offers a secure dashboard where companies can book travel, add travellers and monitor business travel through reporting tools. Travellers can toggle between their personal and business travel accounts within the Travelstart site, separating personal and leisure bookings from those for work.

In addition, business travellers can benefit from negotiated fares, corporate deals, no setup fees and round-the-clock customer support.

"Our mission is to make travel simple, and now we're focusing on simplifying business travel. Any company and individual can sign up for free by creating an account on the Travelstart website," adds Spratley.
